

--Question Starting--

Match the following concepts with their primary socio-economic impacts:

1. Concepts Impact

- I. Platformization of domestic labor and care work A. Standardization and efficiency in service delivery
- II. George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems B. Increased access to health services but also widened socio-economic disparities
- III. Health sector privatization and inequalities C. Transformation of traditional labor patterns into on-demand service models

Choose the correct answer from the options given below:

- (1) I-C, II-A, III-B
- (2) I-A, II-B, III-C
- (3) I-B, II-C, III-A
- (4) I-B, II-A, III-C

Answer Key: 1

Solution:

? Platformization of domestic labor and care work leads to the transformation of traditional labor patterns into flexible, on-demand service models, impacting how these services are accessed and performed.

? George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems discusses the process of standardization and efficiency in food service delivery, emphasizing predictability and control.

? Health sector privatization often leads to increased access to services due to market competition but also exacerbates inequalities as services may cater more to those who can afford them.

Hence, Option (1) is the right answer.

--Question Starting--

Match the following theoretical frameworks with their corresponding impacts on societal structures:

1. Frameworks Societal Impact

- I. Platformization of domestic labor and care work A. Reinforcement of global inequalities through capitalistic practices
- II. George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems B. Altered power dynamics within the family and community
- III. Health sector privatization and inequalities C. Intensification of consumerist culture and predictability

Choose the correct answer from the options given below:

- (1) I-B, II-C, III-A
- (2) I-C, II-A, III-B
- (3) I-A, II-B, III-C
- (4) I-A, II-C, III-B

Answer Key: 1

Solution:

? Platformization of domestic labor and care work often changes how care and domestic tasks are perceived and organized within families, shifting power dynamics.

? George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems contributes to the intensification of consumerist culture, focusing on efficiency, predictability, and control.

? Health sector privatization and inequalities can reinforce global inequalities, as those with more financial resources have better access to healthcare, influencing social stratification.

Hence, Option (1) is the right answer.

--Question Starting--

Match the following socio-economic theories with their specific focus in analysis:

1. Theories Focus

- I. Platformization of domestic labor and care work A. Efficiency and control over consumption processes
- II. George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems B. Shifts in labor market dynamics and employment conditions
- III. Health sector privatization and inequalities C. Differential access to essential services based on socio-economic status

Choose the correct answer from the options given below:

- (1) I-B, II-A, III-C
- (2) I-C, II-B, III-A
- (3) I-A, II-C, III-B
- (4) I-C, II-B, III-A

Answer Key: 1

Solution:

? Platformization of domestic labor and care work focuses on the shifts in labor market dynamics, particularly in how labor is organized around flexible, on-demand platforms.

? George Ritzer's McDonaldization of food systems is centered on enhancing efficiency and control within the food service industry, impacting how food is consumed and experienced.

? Health sector privatization and inequalities focus on how socio-economic status affects access to health care, leading to differential access and reinforcing social disparities.

Hence, Option (1) is the right answer.